Puzzle 10: Dark Humor

"How many uneducated presidential candidates does it take to screw in a light bulb?" "I don't know, how many uneducated presidential candidates does it take to screw in a light bulb?" "0, they're too busy screwing you!" "Ha ha." "How many urban planning commissioners does it take to screw in a light bulb?" "I have no idea." "1, but only if it's a traffic light." "Ha…?" "How many underage psychotic criminals does it take to screw in a light bulb?" "I don't know, how many underage psychotic criminals does it take to screw in a light bulb?" "7, because they're f@#$ing crazy!" "Um... okav." "How many un-American pinko communists does it take to screw in a light bulb?" "Uh..." "8, and then they'll take all your money away!" "I don't get it." "How many unusually polite children does it take to screw in a light bulb?" "Three?" "0, because there is no such thing as an unusually polite child!" "Sure there is..." "How many ugly pageant contestants does it take to screw in a light bulb?" [sigh] "I don't know..." "1, because she doesn't have any friends." "This isn't funny anymore." "How many unwed, pagan couples does it take to screw in a light bulb?" "Wait, I know th--" "1, but they're still gonna burn in hell!" "That's not what I was going to say." "How many unread political columnists does it take to screw in a light bulb?" "Dude, I don't care ... " "4, but still none of them can agree on why Hillary lost the election." "Are you almost finished?" "How many uptight, phony coeds does it take to screw in a light bulb?" "I don't think I want t--" "3, more if they're in a sorority." "That's not very nice." "How many unskilled puzzle creators does it take to screw in a light bulb?" "How many?" "1, and then he'll claim he had a 'Eureka moment."" "That doesn't even make any sense." "How many unhinged postal clerks does it take to screw in a light bulb?" "Hmmm." "6, and then they'll probably shoot up the place." "That's very inappropriate." "Okay, one more: how many uniformed police captains does it take to screw in a light bulb?" "Is this really the final one?" "4!" [waiting] "Seriously, these aren't even jokes. Am I supposed to be laughing? They're nonsense; I'm completely in the dark here."

"Aha! If so, then you're halfway to solving this puzzle!"